Is a New Civil War being Engineered?

January 10, 2013 by drywind

The divided elections and the angry fist waving debates tell a story. America is moving towards civil war.

But in this case the war seems planned.

The pitting of great ideological and moral divisions are carefully positioned and thrown in a ring like two starved animals.

The goal is simple: a divided America is no longer a world player and the last hurdle in the way of global government is taken out.

The gun grabbers gear up while the gun keepers consider the "word and patriotism becomes a fight for states' rights and regionalism.

What's behind this?

1.America has departed from God. The Judeo Christian ethic has been out for a long time.

2.Dark multidimensional forces have been allowed into this vacuum. Demonic possession is rampant and driving the very gun violence driving the gun grabbers.

Part of the plan.

3. All human created civilizations have a life span. America is not immune from the same moral and cultural entropy that doomed Greece and Rome.

This war is not certain. Our path could change. With prayer and God's grace, the Republic could be saved. But as we turn our backs on God, the path towards division is becoming more intense everyday.
